Loyd Carrier wreck (Tracked Towing) – Near Oban, Scotland (UK)

This vehicle was once owned by a construction company who converted it to carry bundles of pipes for the building of a remote water supply system. At some point during the work the engine seized and the machine was left where it failed as they had others to continue the job. 40 years later it is still in the same place that it came to a halt, all be it in much worse condition than when the construction guys abandoned it. The reason that it is in such a rotted condition is that half a mile to the right of the photo is the sea. This vehicle now has the legal papers in place to be removed to England for full restoration (Alastair Mc Murray)
