INTRODUCTION

Introduction & Purpose

The USA Historical AFV Register is intended to provide a cataloging of all of the historical Armored Fighting Vehicles (AFV), including tanks, APCs and self-propelled artillery, etc that are on preserved or otherwise displayed in museums or as monuments in the United States. As such the registry ranges from the World War I-era Skeleton Tank to modern M1 Abrams tanks. However, the registry is not intended to include modern AFVs that are still in service.

Format

The USA Historical AFV Register is organized by state and city or town as follows.

STATE

CITY OR TOWN

Location (GPS Coordinates)

AFV Model	Man./User	status	Notes and/or location
-----------	-----------	--------	-----------------------

Man./User denotes the original manufacturer (country) and various users, using three letter country codes.

Status is denoted by one of the following codes.

ind = indoor display

out = outdoor display

std = stored (this can be either indoor or outdoor storage, but clearly not on display)

wre = wreck (typically vehicles recovered from a target range or simply in very bad condition)

Often, if there are a large number of AFVs on display in a particular town or military post, sub listings are also provided, organized by location - museum, building, road, etc.

Many of the vehicles listed as "Unconfirmed" are from the "Central Registry" of donated vehicles maintained by the U.S. Army's Tank-automotive and Armaments Command (TACOM). Many of these vehicles donated to American Legion and VFW Posts may actually be located in local parks. Additionally, many of the "Unconfirmed" World War II era vehicles – such as Sherman and Stuart tanks – have since been moved or may no longer exist.

Additional information about a particular vehicle is often included in footnotes.

Serial Numbers (SN) and Registration Numbers, aka "USA" numbers (RN) are given when available. Note that many M60 tanks have two SNs, the original one as built and an Anniston Army Depot (AAD) rebuild SN (which ends in an A) or a Mainz Army Depot (MAD) SN (which ends in an M). For British and Canadian WWII era vehicles, War Department (WD) Numbers are given when known, as are post-war Vehicle Registration Numbers (VRN) for British vehicles.

Sources

The USA Historical AFV Register is compiled from a number of sources. Firstly, the register is an expansion of Leslie Delsing's Wrecks and Relics in the USA tank registry, posted to the AFV News Discussion Board on 22 May 2006. The register has also been greatly expanded thanks to armyjunk2 and his copy of the TACOM Central Registry. Some of the other notable online sources include the Waymarking Military Ground Equipment Displays site, the former Tanks for the Memories geocaching site, The Sherman Register, Toadman's Tank Pictures, Trevor Larkum's Preserved Tanks, Robert Buettner's War Memorials of Wisconsin, and Don Moriarty's The History of the Ontos as well as forums and message groups such as the AFV News Discussion Board, G104 (the Sherman Register mailing list), G103 (dedicated to Stuart tanks), and G136 (dedicated to M8 Greyhound and M20 armored cars). Where possible, the origin of information on a particular vehicle is denoted in footnotes. A large number of individual contributors, many of which are credited throughout the registry, have provided invaluable information.

Note

All Serial Numbers, Registration Numbers, War Department Numbers, Vehicle Registration Numbers, etc come from the public domain or directly from the owner with permission. Public domain includes publicly visible areas of the vehicle (commonly stamped or marked on the exterior) when on display, data plates if visible/open to display, or other public domain forums and sources (such as reference works, the AFV News Discussion Board, G104, Sherman Register, etc).

Special thanks

Special thanks goes to Pierre-Olivier Buan and Silvio Iacuone, who took the time to check this version for errors and added both valuable information.

²⁵ Missing tracks.

²⁶ Hull only, barrel is lying near the vehicle.

²⁷ No guns

²⁸ Only one built.

²⁹ Used to be on the mile of tanks, date of acquisition 06/20/1950 (Rick Eshleman, afv Discussion Board, 07/2015)

³⁰ Slugger, has RN 40177404 (Joe DeMarco, G104, 4/2004). Formerly at the US Army Ordnance Museum, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. M36 Serial Number 76 did not have a main gun muzzle brake installed at the factory. It is thought that the muzzle brake was installed and tested on this tank at Aberdeen Proving Ground, and that it was retained in the museum's collection

³¹ Identified by Joe DeMarco (G104, 4/2004).

³² Burned out. 1 of 9 known US surv. Information from Joe DeMarco (G104, 9/2004). Built by Chrysler in October, 1943

³⁴ This tank has an HVSS suspension and a 76mm gun. Built by Fisher and accepted in May 1945, the final month of production (Joe DeMarco). It is one of two pilot models that were built on British request.

³⁵ Railhead 9/2005 Joe DeMarco (G104, 8/2003)

³⁶ Build by Cadillac 05/1944. Kurt Laughlin (G103, 6/2003). See also Hunnicutt, Stuart (San Francisco: Presidio Press, 1992), 364.

³⁷ Has 3 shocks per side. . Training and test vehicle used at Yuma Proving Ground, according to the Ordnance Museum Guide CD. Earliest known existing M60. Unique shock configuration identified by Joe D (12/2006).

³⁸ Only survivor.

⁴¹ Arrived at APG 1917. One of five surviving examples in the world.

⁴² Recovered from Tunisia. Ordnance Museum Guide CD and Tank Data, 69.

⁴³ Hydrostatic drive, PzKpfw IV Ausf FG mit hydrostatischen Antrieb, only one built. It was discovered and placed as a pillbox near the factory, according to the Ordnance Museum Guide CD, as well as Tank Data, 55. See also Achtung Panzer!

⁴⁴ Recovered from Italy, Tank Data, 77.

⁴⁵ Recovered from France.

⁴⁶ Captured by Israel in Sinai in 1956.

⁴⁷ Captured in Korea, Ordnance Museum Guide CD.

⁴⁸ Model 1945

⁴⁹ Model 1945, Sectionalized.

⁵⁰ M75 pilot

⁵¹ One of four surviving T30 heavy tank pilots.

⁵² Only surviving pilot

⁵³ Records indicate that only these two models were ever constructed but here we have a mystery - the museum's tank is 'number 3' (Ordnance Museum Guide CD).

⁵⁴ Captured by the Germans and used until lost in the North African campaign, then shipped to the U.S. via reverse lend-lease scrap shipments in 1943 and diverted for the Ordnance Museum from Brooklyn, N.Y.? (Ordnance Museum Guide CD, as well as TankData, 5).

¹⁹⁷ The M4A1 is not serial 525. It is a number related to the hull only, the 525th hull cast by Continental-Hubbard factory. From Joe DeMarco : The serial number of the Chino is unknown, since it doesn't have its dataplate. However, it has the loose build number 786 stamped in to the side of the hull in the rear. I think it was assumed that that was the tank's serial number, & that is how it came to get the USA Number 3015543. As best I can determine, 786 means that it was the 786th Pressed Steel Car cast hull. (They were making welded hull M4s at the same time.) If I'm correct, that tank would have been accepted in January, 1943, and the Serial Number would have been in the 110XX range, & the USA Number would have been in the 30160XX range.

²⁹⁴ Formerly at 4th ID Museum Fort Hood

²⁹⁵ Built by Fisher as a M4A3(75) VVSS in December 1944 (Jim Goetz). Of interest on that unit is that the spacers for the gun travel lock were apparently removed from a Jumbo & retrofitted to a regular M4A3 hull. This seems like more trouble than it would have been worth simply to make a display tank. It may have been done by a remanufacturing firm to make a useable post war Sherman.

²⁹⁶ Built as a M4A3(75)W by Fisher Grand Blanc Arsenal

²⁹⁷ Formerly at 4th ID Museum Fort Hood

²⁹⁸ Barfly; Has RN 30116372 (Jeff Button). SN identified by Joe DeMarco. Formerly at 4th ID Museum Fort Hood. This is one of 525 M4A3(76) VVSS manufactured by Fisher, it was remanufactured to HVSS in the 1950s. We only know 4 surviving M4A3(76) manufactured by Fisher.

³¹⁸ Named "BUPKES", has RN 40146601 painted on. Formally owned by Northeast Military Vehicle Services, Shrewsbury, Massachusetts

³¹⁹ BRACHA was acquired and joined the WW2 Armor stables in September 2016; previously owned by the well renowned collector the late Fred Ropkey, founder of the Ropkey Armor Museum in Crawfordsville, Indiana (previous stenciled name "COCKY" prior to joining WW2 Armor). BRACHA is a 76mm M18 Gun Motor Carriage (GMC) Hellcat tank destroyer and its name BRACHA means 'blessing' in Yiddish. BRACHA served in WWII and during the Battle of the Bulge in the winter of 1944, but it is unknown what unit she served with. Following WWII, BRACHA eventually found its way in the service of the Yugoslavian National Army, and fought in its second war during the Yugoslav Civil Wars (1991-2001) and served on active duty status until 2001. Between the two wars BRACHA does show extensive battle damage and small arms ricochets around her hull and right turret exterior sponson. After her retirement, BRACHA was part of a batch of vehicles purchased and exported to the United Kingdom and eventually made it back home to the U.S. under the care and ownership of Mr. Ropkey. BRACHA is stenciled as the 704th Tank Destroyer Battalion, which was attached to the 4th Armored Division throughout the ETO in WWII, and was the first M18 Hellcat tank destroyer battalion to land in the ETO. BRACHA is one of 2,507 M18 GMC Hellcats built by the Buick Division of General Motors in Flint, Michigan; although 650 were converted to M39 Armored Utility Vehicles by removing the turret and main gun and reconfiguring the open crew compartment to carry personnel or equipment. Following WWII most M18 GMC Hellcats, however, were refurbished and sold to other countries to included Greece, China, and Yugoslavia, with some M18s remaining in service into 2001. BRACHA is Serial Number 769 with an original Registration Number of 40108862 and was built in December 1943 under production order T-6641 (order consisted of 1,000 M18 Hellcats built between July 1943 – January 1944). BRACHA was one of 684 Hellcats (S/N 685 – 1096) built in the original configuration throughout December 1943, and was returned to Buick in February 1944 to be modified with the redesigned gear ratio before being deployed overseas. 650 of the 684 returned M18 Hellcats would later be reconfigured into M39 Armored Utility Vehicles, BRACHA was one of 34 that was not and was shipped to the European Theater of Operations CIRCA mid-1944 (WW2 Armor on facebook).

⁴²⁹ This tank was created from an M60A2 hull mated to an M48A5 turret. Was a proposition to quickly create more tanks for US Reserve/Guard Forces using excess M60A2 hulls when they were removed from service. Hull has been upgraded to the AVDS-1790-2D engine and now is equipped with the standard M48A5 bilge pump. Turret is also equipped with IR sights and M219 Coaxial machine gun. Only one made, project cancelled (Joe Daneiri). Formerly at RMP, Fort Knox, Kentucky

⁴⁷³ Missing gun.

⁴⁷⁴ Firefly M4A2 w/ Firefly turret. The turret is probably the one sent by Great Britain to the United States in 1944/1945 (along with a sister sent to Canada) and originally mounted on an M4A3 Sherman for test by the AGF Board and the Ordnance Department, according to Mark Hayward, Sherman Firefly (Essex, England: Barbarossa Books, 2001), p 145, 153 and David Fletcher, Military Ordnance Special No. 19 Sherman VC M4A4 Firefly (Darlington, Md.: Darlington Productions, 1997). If so, the placement of the turret on this M4A2 appears to have been done post-war. The Sherman hull is the first M4A2 hull built by American Locomotive, according to Joe DeMarco (G104, 4/2004 and 7/2006).

⁴⁷⁵ Recovered from Iraq

⁴⁷⁶ T6 Pilot. Fitted w/ spigot mortars. Experimental mine destroyer/demolition variant fitted with spigot mortars. Originally part of the Aberdeen Proving Ground Ordnance Museum collection, later transferred to the Marine Air-Ground Museum at Quantico. (Joe DeMarco, G104, 5/2002).

⁴⁷⁷ Formerly at RMP, Fort Knox, Kentucky. 1 of 2 M51 Isherman in US

⁴⁷⁸ This Marder belonged to the APG collection and was on loan to the museum in Sinsheim (GE). It was for a short time with the Wheatcroft and returned to the US in June 2012

⁴⁷⁹ The vehicle was attached to the s.Pz.Jg.Abt 653 and had the vehicle number 331. The vehicle was captured near Neustadt an der Weinstraße, Germany in March 1945. Damage is still visible on the gun mantlet, glacis plate, and lower nose armor. This vehicle used the late version 9 tooth sprocket ring, for use with the 'contact shoe' and 'connector link' style continuous track it shared with the Tiger II. Formerly located at Aberdeen proving ground

⁴⁸⁰ Recovered from Tunisia, Ordnance Museum Guide CD and Tank Data, 41. Formerly at the US Army Ordnance Museum, Aberdeen Proving ground, Md

⁴⁸¹ Museum Director G.B. Jarrett mounted a 37mm gun on this PzKpfw III for display purposes. According to Thomas Jentz, Jarrett took a 7.5 cm KwK L/43 for display out of a rebuilt PzKpfw IV Ausf D (presumably the D/E/F model) that came out of Sicily and replaced it with the 7.5 cm KwK L/24 out of the PzKpfw III Ausf N. The tank originally came from Tunisia.

⁴⁸² Recovered from ETO. Tank Data, 44.

⁴⁸³ Recovered from Tunisia. Ordnance Museum Guide CD and Tank Data, 50. Has hull number 83534 (Will Phelps, AFV News Discussion Board, 11/06).

⁴⁸⁴ This tank was recovered from Italy (Information from the Ordnance Museum Guide CD). This vehicle is currently stored and is not publicly visible ⁴⁸⁵ Formerly at RMP, Fort Knox, Kentucky. Unrestored, no tracks, mocked-up exhausts and no commander's hatch. Appears to be a very late production vehicle, with the foliage loops on the turret side.

⁴⁸⁶ The Turret on this one in Fort Benning was taken from a Panther Ausf.G at Fort Knox in the Seventies (Hilary Louis Doyle).

⁴⁹⁷ Navy Target Tow Vehicle

⁴⁹⁸ Ausf. A serie 4. It was shipped to Fort Knox in December 1946 (Don Moriarty) The wheels and tires are incorrect, but the vehicle is very nice otherwise

⁴⁹⁹ Spähpanzer Luchs early model/prototype. Built between 1968 and 1975 as recon vehicle with experience carried over from wartime 8 x 8 vehicles she sported a 20 mm cannon with speeds on up to 90 kph and was designed with silent running in mind. The difference between this and production model are subtle, the shape between the road-wheels is triangular and not squared off, the escape hatches are smaller and not beveled in with release handles. the front is flatter with a single towing distinct towing mount between the eyelets. The nose upper and right/left sides are more angles and similar to the BTR in so,e ways as well as forward mounting grips(Ed Webster on Facebook). Formerly at RMP, Fort Knox, KY

⁵⁰⁰ This T-55 Enigma was actually captured before the outbreak of the ground war when the Iraqis crossed the border into Saudi Arabia at Khafji - according to the news, it was captured by Saudi forces - but in actuality it was captured by the US Marines (Charles R. Lemons). This one is based on an RU hull (formerly a 54 upgraded to 55) then exported to Poland before going to IRQ and being converted. the Enigma (its NATO name based on a report following the 1980 Baghdad arms fair, where it was written "We dont know much about this vehicle and it remains an Enigma") I've found no evidence to suggest 'Al Faw' was a name used for this machine. The main difference is the large applique boxes with a series of metal and rubber layers inside that act as a NxRA demi-bulge/material attrition composite protection similar to early Chobham types notably Burlington(1969-1976). Tested by the US on post war captured versions it was able to stop both TOW and Milan missiles effectively. Whilst not effective versus 120 mm NATO APFSDS from the period it was designed to fight Iranian vehicles of a similar class and would have been more than capable of doing so having both a greater composite volume that older Soviet LR penetration lengths and above mentioned SC protection. One myth we can put to bed is that they are haphazardly made with little inter-commonality, measurements and rivet counting shows that they are remarkably similar and thus followed a set series of factory blueprints. this in one of 3-4 known survivors with another at Bovington (Calvin and Hobbs) one if France and a further in the US at Knox(Ed Webster).

⁵⁰² One of three surviving T23 pilots

⁵⁰³ The T34 was the final evolutionary design to come out of the late-World War II heavy tank development, having been preceded by the T29 and T30 series of heavy tank testbeds. The T34 program was authorized on 17 May 1945, with the goal to arm two T30 heavy tanks (which were armed with monstrous, but lower velocity, 155mm main guns) with the new high velocity 120mm Gun T53. While today's M1A2 Abrams tank also has a 120mm gun, the T34's 120mm gun necessitated the use of two-piece ammunition that weighted in at 100 pounds when combined. This required two loaders in the T34's crew for effective operation. While the T34 or its sister T29-T30 heavy tanks never saw mass production, they greatly influenced American tank designs in the future.(From the NACM Facebook page)

⁵³⁹ One of six surv. examples. Formerly at the US Army Ordnance Museum, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md

⁵⁴⁰ Formerly at the Patton Museum, Fort Knox, Kentucky

⁵⁴¹ This Panzer II ausf F was once part of Panzer-Abteilung 190 in the 90. Liechte Division in North Africa. It was captured, along with an SdKfz 233 8-wheel armored car by the U.S. 1st Ranger Battalion at El Guettar, Tunisia in the Spring of 1943. After its capture, it was painted with U.S. markings. The Panzer II was shipped to the Aberdeen Proving Grounds for trials and placed in the Ordnance Museum collection after the war (Garry Redmon). This tank was on loan to the Panzermuseum Munster (Germany) and was brought back to the USA in June 2012 (Don Moriarty)

⁵⁴² Formerly behind the Patton Museum. The NACM's Panzer III is one of the 450 Ausf. F variants produced. However it is unique. Ausf. Fs were originally produced with the 37mm KwK 36 L/45, though later this was upgraded to the 50mm KwK38 L/48. Our Ausf. F was upgraded later in its service to the longer and more powerful 50mm KwK 39 L/60. It also received numerous armor upgrades, including reinforced armor on its front upper hull and the addition of Schurzen (skirts) to the turret. This makes this particular Panzer III Ausf. F appear closer to the later Ausf. J standard. However, her "Fahrgestellnummer" (chassis number) of 61266 reveals her true identity. Her interior is relatively untouched since World War II.

⁵⁴³ This tank was recovered from Tunisia, according to the Aberdeen museum. It was previously on display at Aberdeen and was then transferred to Fort Knox in July 2008, and to Fort Benning in 2011. This vehicle is currently stored and is not publicly visible. The Panzer IV has a feature that may cause some to think it is an ausf F2 version because it has the rounded, globular muzzle brake instead of the baffle type muzzle brake found on ausf G models. While this was always considered a feature of the F2, this vehicle has an ausf G turret that is signified by the lack of the right turret front port and vision ports on the turret sides forward of the side doors. It does have, however, signal ports in the driver's and RO's hatches, a feature that was on ausf F version hulls. This vehicle may have been built during the transition from F to G (AFTA website)

⁵⁴⁴ Recovered from either France or Italy - conflicting information in Tank Data, and the Ordnance Museum Guide CD respectively. Formerly at Aberdeen proving ground

⁵⁴⁵ This particular vehicle, hull number 280243 and with the tactical number 332, belonged to the Schwere SS Panzerabteilung 501 (Heavy SS Tank Unit 501) which was part of the infamous Kampfgruppe Peiper. Though dominating in its appearance and firepower, the story of 332 highlights the flaws of the King Tiger design: 75 years ago today on 18 December 1944, records show that 332 experienced "mechanical difficulties" and was abandoned along a road just east of the Belgian village of Coe. A week later, 332 would become U.S. Army property when the M4 Shermans of the U.S. 740th Tank Battalion cleared the area. After refueling, repairing, and recovery, 332 was the first fully operational King Tiger to make it back to the United States for testing and evaluation. Formerly at the Patton Museum, Fort Knox, Kentucky. Transferred from the Aberdeen Proving Ground Ordnance Museum in 1992 in exchange for MBT-70 Pilot No.3

⁵⁴⁶ This hull was recovered from a dump in Afghanistan in 2003, with another (more complete) Renault FT which can be seen above (Don Moriarty). It is currently being restored. The turret has been discovered at Fort Benning and recovered in February, 2017

⁵⁵⁸ Recently repainted. Sold to the Egyptians about 1960 and captured by the Israelis during the 1967 Six-Day War. The Israelis removed the engine from the damaged vehicle and made some modifications prior to installing it as a fixed emplacement on the Bar Lev Line. Believed to be the first pilot, which was located at Aberdeen Proving Ground until at least 1946, then at Fort Belvoir by at least 1951. The T28 was "lost" for about 20 years (believed to have been scrapped) until it was found at the Combat Developments Research Lab range at Fort Belvoir in 1975. After its re-discovery, the T28 was recovered by the Patton Museum. The other, second T28 pilot is believed to have been destroyed by fire during testing at Yuma, Arizona 1946. Formerly at Keyes Park, Fort Knox KY

⁶¹² One of two surviving T29 heavy tank pilots, along with the modified T29E3 tank. Former Marshall Hall(building 1726)

⁶¹³ One of four surviving T30 heavy tank pilots.

⁶¹⁴ "Fearless Felix" T70 pilot number 3. This tank is the 3rd of six pilot T70s built in early 1943. Probably the oldest existing T70/M18 (Rob Cogan)

⁶¹⁵ Captured by US forces in the Philippines in 1945. At one time it was in storage as shown, largely dismantled and undergoing restoration, Preserved Japanese Tanks, 7. Formerly at the Patton Museum of Cavalry and Armor, Fort Knox, KY

⁶¹⁶ Formerly at Keyes Park, Fort Knox KY

⁶⁴⁸ She was sent to Orchard Gunnery Complex from Anniston Army Depot to be used as hard targets. All these vehicles were part of the US Army Center of Military History Catalogue and registered. All were in storage, the M60A1 RISE is also very rare, almost all Army models being converted to Passive or M60A3.

⁶⁴⁹ She was one of the additional M60A1E2's made using an M60A1E1 turret. Her SN is an M60A1 number, From what I have found researching M60A2's, She was one of nine produced in 1969 to test the CBSS system. These tanks with a selected few from the 1967 purchase of M60A1E2's with the Open Breech Scavenge System converted to CBSS were used as Test Vehicles to what eventually became the M60A2. Her along with SN 5494, RN 9A93869, and an M551, M47, the M4 pictured, and an M60A1 RISE (SN 8826, RN JJ01VC) were sent to Orchard Gunnery Complex from Anniston Army Depot to be used as hard targets. All these vehicles were part of the US Army Center of Military History Catalogue and registered. All were in storage.

⁶⁷¹ Built in 1940 by Demag AG Werk Wetter Ruhr

⁶⁷² Built by Demag AG in 1944 (Walter Schwabe). It was found in the 70's near Graz (Austria) in a scrap yard, alongside with a 251/1 Ausf.D and a 250/5 Ausf. B. It is a 250/1 ausf B from SS 5 Panzer "Wiking" Aufklärungsabteilung (Dmitry Bushmakow)

⁶⁷³ The vehicle is being fully restored. Actually this is not a 251 chassis but a SdKfz 11 one made by Borgward in 1943. This manufacturer did not make the chassis for 251, only the SdKfz 11 (Walter Schwabe)

⁶⁷⁴ Built in 1944 by Auto-Union. This Half-Track was previously on display in the Victory in Europe museum in Arlon (Belgium), and then was part of the Victory Museum, Auburn. The suspension, frame and motor are real, inside everything is incorrect and rudely made (Dimitri Bushmakow). Now the vehicle is taken apart and being restored (Walter Schwabe)

⁶⁹⁸ Former Iraqi vehicle, abandoned west of Kuwait City.

⁶⁹⁹ "4th Armored Divison General Sherman Tank Knocked Out During the Battle of the Bulge Dec. 16 1944 - Jan.23 1945" is painted on the (4 inch?) slabs of (German?) armor welded on the the hull sides. Battle of the Bulge casualty seems doubtful in that the up-armoring process didn't commence until February. The glacis armor was taken directly from another Sherman, complete with hull lifting rings as well as headlamp and gun travel lock fittings. According to Joe DeMarco, with no prospect of further deliveries of Jumbos, in February 1945, the Third Army embarked on a program to "up-armor" its M4A3(76)s (P-O Buan).

⁸³⁸ Built by Ford in May 1943 as a M10A1, RN 40469XX which is a Ford M10A1 registration. It was later converted to M36 probably by Montreal Locomotive Co. This is an ex-Yugoslavian Army vehicle, probably equipped with a T-55 engine. Has the E9 spaced out suspension. Serial by David D. Jackson.

⁸³⁹ Built by Fisher in March 1944. The appliqué armor on the side was most probably applied to repair damage, as the tank might be a WW2 combat veteran. It was formerly displayed at Ferris Barracks, Erlangen, Germany (Joe DeMarco)

⁸⁷¹ Identified by the TACOM Central Registry (8/2007).

⁸⁷² Formerly at Fort Riley

⁸⁷³ This is one of the few places where they actually have a power plant in the same place as the tank, and out doors at that. Without trying to sound like a nit picker, that engine/transmission combo is not for an M60 (A0). The engine is an AVDS-1790-2DA and the transmission is fitted with Hydro-mechanical brakes on the output shafts. It's a 2DA engine based on the 300 amp air cooled generator, easily identified by the air ducting running to the forward part of the engine from it. The large oil coolers, electrical harness connectors and starter relay located on top of the engine make it a "D" model with this generator. The tubing running from the exhaust stacks along the top of the oil coolers is for the VEDES system (Vehicle Exhaust Dust Ejection System). The "A" in 2DA is for VEDES equipped. These particular engines were installed in late model M60A1 RISE Passives, M728A1 CEV's and M60A1 AVLB's. M60A0's had only Mechanical brakes and were never issued with the VEDES system. The tank itself has the earlier aluminum air cleaner units too, only the armored units were equipped with VEDES. The Kansas National Guard never had M60A1's, they went from M60A0 to M60A3's. Most likely this pack came from an M60A1AVLB or M728A1 CEV, since they were in the inventory long after the M60's were retired (Joe Daneri Afv Discussion Board, 02/2015).

⁸⁷⁷ Former Swiss Centurion

⁸⁷⁸ Previously part of the Isle of Wight museum. This Comet has been built by Leyland in 1944 and given the number T335252. It has been used by British Forces during the WW-II and remained in service till the early sixties. After this the Comet was stationed outside the Sennelager Barracks close to Paderborn in Germany. In 1994 it was recovered and partly restored and now it is back again in restoration to complete and perseve this lovely tank. The turret comes from Finland.

⁸⁷⁹ Previously owned by Ian Galliers, then part of the Isle of Wight museum. Ian Galliers purchased this vehicle from the Geneva military museum when it closed down. It is fitted with a Meteor Mk 4 (Centurion) engine (<http://www.armouruk.net/>)

⁸⁸⁰ "Saint" This ex-Finnish tank, RN Ps. 252-33, was offered in an auction in September 2007. It has its original war time registration T335817. It has the 'B' type hull (A34 Comet Mk 1 Model B). This vehicle was built in late 1944 and delivered in the beginning of 1945 with British registration number T335817. This is one of the 40 Comets that went to Finland in 1960. This Comet was the 92nd build by Fowler under the contract licence M10536, where 350 Comets were ordered, but only 150 were built.

⁸⁸¹ PzKpfw III replica

⁸⁸² Former Collings Foundation (comes from the Littlefield collection).

⁸⁸³ Comes from Ron Fry Collection. WD No T-23971 (Baldwin number 468), built by Baldwin in June, 1942.

⁸⁸⁴ Built by Chrysler in January, 1945. Formerly at the Ropkey Armor Museum, 5649 E. 150 North, Crawfordsville, IN.

⁸⁸⁵ This tank was first located at Arlington (for nearly half a century), and then moved at the War Memorial Museum in Nitro, WV (USA) in the 1980s. It was then fully restored in the Ropkey museum (Hayes Otoupalik).

SN identified by Don Moriarty (AFV News Discussion Board, 6/2010).

⁸⁹⁵ AAD rebuild, SN and coordinates from Joe Daneri.

⁸⁹⁶ Identified by Kurt Laughlin (4/2007).

⁸⁹⁷ Formerly at Anniston. Had signs on it from the Fredericks County Sheriff department (Md)

⁸⁹⁸ The tank, donated by the Anniston Army Depot in Anniston Ala. through the U.S. Center for Military History, is planned to be converted to an amphibious "duplex drive" model that linked up with the division following its occupation of Utah beach on D-day. It is scheduled to serve as a centerpiece for a diorama at the post's forthcoming Wings of Liberty Museum (http://www.fortcampbellcourier.com/news/article_b242f33c-b319-11e4-92f4-fb32dcd829a7.html).

⁹⁹⁰ Identified by the TACOM Central Registry (8/2007).

⁹⁹¹ Also has A3012 stamped on tow lug. Possibly one of the M60A3 pilots. Has all the ID features of such a vehicle. Early Detroit produced A3's had "A3" stamped before the serial number to ID them as such. The numbers also corresponded with Pilot SN 011, RN JJ0301. All I can guess is sometime this tanks SN got changed when inventoried/transferred to another unit, or during rebuild/refurbishing. Probably because A3 012 looks like A3012 and someone assumed she was 3012A. Just another example of how aggravating it can be to track these tanks by Serial Number. ¹⁰⁴⁸ This tank carries the WD number T335001, making it the 101st Comet built at the British Leyland plant in December 1944 (Craig Moore). It was a tank of 3 Troop, 2nd Fife & Forfar Yeomanry which served in Germany in April-May, 1945 (Barry Weston). It is also one of the 8 Comet sold by the UK to Ireland in the 1960s, this is confirmed by the number plate on the rear of the turret basket (Anthony Ryan). She is marked as a tank belonging to the 35rd Royal Tank Regiment (RTR) in the 29th Armoured Brigade of the 11th Armoured Division in 1945. It was the only Brigade to be totally equipped with the Comet tank before war ends. She is painted in British standard camouflage colour 15 (SCC 15) green. During restoration it was found that she had been painted SCC 61 light stone at some point in her service possible due to a deployment in Egypt with the British Army (Craig Moore). This vehicle was part of the Budge Collection (UK) before it was scattered. It was then part of Jacques Littlefield Collection. The entire Littlefield collection was donated to the Collings Foundation, and only 80 of the 240 vehicles of the collection are now displayed in a museum in Hudson, MA. The other vehicles were sold in an auction in August 2014

¹⁰⁶¹ Used to sit in front of 2nd Tank HQ's at Camp Lejeune NC. Before that was a moving target for the LAW range there. She was equipped with a blade before. You can see one of the brackets welded for it below the right drivers periscope. At one point they installed T107 track and sprockets on her from an M88 or M103A2. Has the armored air cleaners too, not an A3 upgrade. Most likely done for use on the LAW range. Nice to see her indoors. Only 6 M48A3's in the US. This is the only one not located on a Military installation. Was last rebuilt at Anniston FEB 1971 for the USMC (Joe Daneri on Facebook).

¹⁰⁹⁴ The turret is not the T95 version but the "D" model proposed as one of the M60A1E1 turret options and fitted on M60 9B4470 as shown above. Although very, very similar, there are differences I noticed. The hull originally was M48A1 RN 9A9551 which was used to make one of the pilot M48A1E1's, then re gunned to make the M48A1E2 which became the M48A3. She was used to make the Service and operators manuals for the M48A3 initially. Later on, based on unique casting marks, I identified her as being the hull above and used to create one of the two M48A4's. A combination of an M48A3 hull with M60 turret. In order to do this, they had to add a 2" adapter ring to raise the turret enough for the floor not to sit too low. This ring is quite visible on this hull. This also allowed the installation of this turret on this hull, being it was designed for the M60 platform which the turret floor was 2" deeper into the hull (Joe Daneri). Formerly at TACOM Warren, MI.

¹¹¹³ This tank is definitely an odd ball. Hull has small drivers hatch and does not have the turntable opening for the M24IR drivers night sight. All M103's had the night sight, part of BII. Makes her one of the early T43/43E1 tanks that didn't get upgraded to M103 standards. RN number is bogus, missing a digit and all wrong. Shame, might help ID her. Of the initial batch of T43E1's all but 6 were converted to M103. The remaining 6 we kept for testing. Some hulls were used for experimental turrets like the T57 and T58. Others for testing upgrades to automotive and turret improvements eventually for use in M103A1 and A2 Tanks. Based on these pictures I'd bet the hull was one of those 6 and eventually was used to test the AVDS-1790 set up used in the M103A2. The turret looks like an M103A1. Cupola and lack of searchlight fittings indicate so, but with these pictures I can confirm it's not an M103A2. The bulge located under the turret bustle where the gunner was originally located in the M103 is complete. When they converted M103's to A1's they moved the gunner forward but the bulge remained. When upgraded to M103A2 standards they had to cut part of the bulge off and plate it over in order for it to clear the newer, higher rear deck. This one isn't cut. Just wish I had a better image of the sight housing opening and top of turret. There is an odd chance this tank started off as a T43E1, then was used to make one of the pilot T43E2/M103A1's, then eventually was used to test the M103A2 diesel setup. Also could be they stuck this excess M103A1 turret on this hull that was used for all sorts of experiments. That's the problem with the standard 85" turret ring. You can plop any turret with the same diameter on it for display, Covers M48's all the way to M1A2SEP version whatever. JoeD, Afv Discussion Board, 09/2013

¹²⁴² Early Newark produced tank. This one still retained all the old mounts and equipment for installing the M2 Flex .50 cal, to include both interrupters and the barrel stowage clip. She also was originally equipped with the Crouse-Hinds searchlight, and still has the lower stowage bracket welded below the turret blower housing. The early tanks equipped with this light also had a grounding lug welded on top of the turret, which has been removed but the scars were very visible. The most interesting find was the bore evacuator locking ring. She still has the original style used with the UK supplied tubes (Joe Daneri).

¹⁴⁴¹ This was one of the twenty Fisher Body Grand Blanc, MI built T26E3s that were shipped on an emergency basis to Europe before the tank had been fully tested by the US Army. Much of the testing was done by the tankers that operated them in Europe, and the twenty tanks were what was known at the "Zebra Mission." Serial numbers 27, 28, 35 and 39 participated in the taking of the Remagen Bridge Germany on March 7, 1945.

¹⁵⁶⁴ The M4A3 "Sherman" tank outside the New York State Military museum was formerly a display piece at the New York State Armory in Carthage, N.Y. prior to the armory closure. The tank sat outside the armory for approximately 20 years. The specific history of this vehicle has been lost. Presumably the tank was used by New York National Guard Soldiers of the 27th Armored Division or the 42nd Infantry Division during the 1950s.

¹⁷¹¹ C-22, an M109, self-propelled 155mm howitzer, was built by Allison Division of General Motors in 1967. It entered the U.S. Army inventory on 6 Jan 1968 and was received at Letterkenny Army Depot 16 Feb 1968. C-22 was shipped to Vietnam 1 May 1968 and was issued to 6th FA BN, 1st INF DIV, on 22 June 1968. On the night of 28 Oct 1968, at Fire Support Base Rita in the Fish Hook area in RVN, in a heavy barrage of recoilless rifle and rocket propelled grenade fire, C-22 was hit by an RPG round causing the damage which you see on the left side. Four days later C-22 was instrumental in repelling a heavy ground attack by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion supported by intense rocket and mortar barrages. It was during this action that LTC Charles C. Rogers, now Brigadier General, earned the Medal of Honor. During this intense battle, the U.S. forces suffered 12 men killed and 54 wounded. The enemy body count inside and on the perimeter wire was 27. It was estimated that there were at least 200 bodies lying in the woods around the FSB. C-22 served with the 6th FA BN until 13 Nov 1968 when it was retired and shipped to Tooele Army Depot, Utah. It was shipped to Fort Sill on 11 Jan 1972 and became the property of the Field Artillery Museum.

¹⁷⁴² SN identified by the TACOM Central Registry (8/2007).

¹⁷⁴³ Former M60A1 SN 4018. GEN 2 hull with large escape hatch and late casting A1 turret. Some one had stenciled a bogus USMC registration number (579008) on the side. This tank was a former National Guard vehicle before retirement and had all the usual late model Anniston features to include the M68A1 105mm gun and forward thermal shroud as initially used on the M1. Also had modified torsion bar anchor plugs fitted with grease zerks. Typical late MWO done at MATE sites (Joe Daneri, Afv Discussion Board, 02/2015).

¹⁷⁸² Note that his tank is the only surviving M1917 with its first type Marlin Machine gun turret mount. All other known M1917 tanks in the US have the later ball type mount for the M1919 air cooled machinegun that was developed at Rock Island Arsenal (Hayes Otoupalik). Its current restored paint scheme is based on the actual camo pattern discovered by the PA state restorers under about 3 layers of museum paint and service applied olive drab. During the researches, the museum located a very rare Marlin tank machine gun in Montana and purchased it from the collector (Mike Siggins). More information about this tank : <http://www.yorkblog.com/yorktownsquare/2010/07/28th-pa-division-museum.html#more> ²⁰¹⁸ Built by Fisher in March, 1944. It was used as a monument by 11th Cavalry in Downs Barracks, Fulda, Germany from the 1950s, and was then displayed at the 1st Armored Division museum in Baumholder, Germany, before being brought back to the USA when the 1st Armored Division moved to Fort Bliss. One rear tow lug shows Serial Number 49047, it might be the case that the tow lug with 49047 stamped on might have been welded on to 48740 as a replacement after the original broke off (Joe DeMarco). Formerly at the Old Ironsides Museum, Fort Bliss, TX which exchanged it for a M4A3 105mm SN 56625 from Fort Hood (the latter having been issued to the 1st AD in July, 1944 in Italy).

²⁰²⁹ The tube turned out to be a standard M68 105mm forged at Watervliet Arsenal NY in 1971. Only reason I can think it wasn't rifled would be it failed a magnaflux or similar non destructive testing prior to "Broaching". The tank is an interesting time capsule, being she missed out on many upgrades. One major one was the installation of the M32 (GMR) and M36 (TC) sights and VSS-1 Searchlight Installation Kit with all the ancillary guards, mounts, and connectors. The inside looks like she had a fire in the left front hull, and might explain why. The lack of upgrades leads me to believe this fire happened early in her life and subsequently was "Retired" or "Coded Out". Someone decided at one time to fix her up for a unit mascot, would also explain the tube and the engine with a rebuild date of 1972. The gunners sight housing is the original Non IR type. Also no searchlight guards are present and the top center mount has not been modified for the VSS-1. TC's cupola is still set up for the earlier M28C periscope. Also from this angle you can see the power receptacle with a single 24vdc plug as used by the older Crouse-Hinds units (Joe Daneri on Facebook).

²⁰⁵⁰ New Guinea combat veteran, Serial Number 2017 (USA AFVs register). This tank was transported to Milne Bay, then transported by barge to Buna. It is one of the seven M3 Stuarts of the 2/6th Armoured Regiment that were supporting troops of the 2/9th Infantry Battalion at Cape Endiaderre. On December 24, 1942 this tank suffered a hit to the driver's flap from one of the Japanese 76.2mm Type 3 Naval Gun emplaced at Buna Airfield (Old Strip). It was recovered from the Buna battlefield in mid-1973, and was transported to Port Moresby by barge. Then it was shipped to the Nimitz Museum to be displayed (<http://www.pacificwrecks.com/>) Identified by Kurt Laughlin (4/2007).

²⁰⁵¹ Identified by Kurt Laughlin (4/2007).

²⁰⁵² It is in a very poor condition, missing its wheels, tracks, suspension and many other parts" (Preserved Japanese Tanks, 7).

²⁰⁵³ Originally arrived in the U.S. via Ogden Air Force Base, which was the initial point of research on captured war materiel, before being assessed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland. From APG it went to San Clemente Island, a target range for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps" (Preserved Japanese Tanks, 7). See also The Restoration of Shinhoto Chi-Ha.

²⁰⁵⁴ This particular Locust was sold as surplus after WW2 to be used as farm equipment. It was pulling farm machinery around a field in Indiana for years, then changed hands three times, one of the owners being Bayliss Restorations, Mims, FL (USA). It is currently undergoing restoration. The former owner replaced the original engine with a 300 chevy engine and got rid of the original engine. The current owner has put a 350 chevy engine instead. ²¹⁴¹ This "Panzerkampfwagen IV Ausf H/J (hybrid) was captured by the Russian Mongols of the Red Army in Czechoslovakia and then it was eventually sold to Syria by Czechoslovakia. In 1967, it was captured by the Israelis at the Golan Heights and eventually put on display in the museum in Latru[n] along with Sturmgeschütz III Ausf G and other PzKpfw IV Ausf H. It was then traded to the Mattituck American Armoured Museum on Long Island [which later moved to Danville] for an other vehicle (Stuart) in the museum's collection," according to Steve Gabrielli, "Syrian Panzerkampfwagen IV in USA," Achtung Panzer!: Panzerkampfwagen IV.

²¹⁴² This tank was purchased from Hayes Otoupalik in 1987. It originally had been acquired from the Furrer War Museum in Arizona and was originally one of four tanks that came from M.C. Bradley Military Rental Studios in Hollywood California in 1967 when this collection was dispersed. It had originally been acquired years before for use in the silent movies, such as "Wings", and later used as a Japanese tank in "Sands of Iwo Jima". This tank was still in operational condition in the 1960s (Hayes Otoupalik) an M551, M60A1, and M47, were pulled from the Army CMH (Center for Military History) lot and sent to Gowen field Idaho to be used as targets. She is the only one that was saved. The A-Duece and her program is why we have electronic fire control systems coupled with laser rangefinders and fully stabilized turrets. Biggest obstacle to her (and the M551) fielding was developing a usable combustable main gun round. Advancements in Nitro-Cellulose casings were made in combination with an effective scavenge system solved this. This led to our current 120mm rounds. The next major obstacle was getting the fully stabilized turret/cupola to work. This was solved by Chrysler Engineers and Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal. The results also gave us Add On Stabilization for the M60A1. All this Tech was used with the MBT-70/XM-803 project. All of this led to the M1(Joe Daneri).

²²⁵⁶ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation, sold by Auctions America on July 11-12, 2014

²²⁵⁷ This tank was previously on display at the Musée des blindés, canons et instruments de Justice of Geneva, Switzerland (Chris Shillito) and after that at Utah Military and Armament Museum, Tooele, UT

²²⁵⁸ This particular vehicle was built in Czechoslovakia after World War II from salvaged parts of combat machines and factory components. These new vehicles were designated "ST-1" and the Czechoslovakian Army was equipped with some 250 ST-1 vehicles between 1949 and the later 1950's. This vehicle was acquired for operational use at Paul Allen's Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum on Paine Field in Everett, Washington, and is painted in the markings of Panzerjäger-Abteilung 167 (Tank Destroyer Division) which, as part of the 167 Volksgrenadier-Division, took part in the Ardennes Offensive (Battle of the Bulge) near Bastogne, Belgium, between December 1944 and January 1945 (Randy Malmstrom, facebook).

²²⁵⁹ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation vehicle, sold by Auctions America.

²²⁶⁰ This M1A1 Abrams turret trainer was used as a teaching tool for Army turret mechanics. Obtained by the Military Vehicle Technology Foundation in 2005, a 120 mm gun was added to the piece while it was being restored. The Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum obtained the turret in 2014.

²²⁶¹ Painted RN 30187625, named "No Guts no Glory"

²²⁶² Cut-Open view

²²⁶³ The tank was built in the United States and then sold to the Kingdom of Jordan and was one of 197 M48 and 200 M48A1 tanks that county received beginning in the mid-1960s. Many Jordanian tanks saw combat during the Six Day War with Israel in 1967. It is unknown where this particular tank was assigned at the time. When newer tanks like the M60 became available, Jordan retired many of its M48s. This tank was a gift to the Flying Heritage Collection from the Royal Tank Museum in Aqaba, Jordan (Randy Malmstrom on facebook).

²²⁶⁴ Manufactured by Pressed Steel Car and has build number 2492. As far as is known, it stayed in the United States as a trainer. Early in 1945, it was sent to a re-manufacturing facility to be released to the Dutch Armed Forces under a Major Defense Acquisition Program (as defined in Title 10, U.S. Code 2430). Acquired by a British collector (I don't recall the name), it was restored by C&C Military Services in Ludgershall, Buckinghamshire, South East England. It is painted in the colors of "Boomerang," a tank of the 7th Armored Division, 31st Tank Battalion, which was lost in September 1944 in The Netherlands (Randy Malmstrom on Facebook).

²²⁶⁵ Former Military Vehicle Technology Foundation vehicle, sold by Auctions America.

²²⁶⁶ Painted with the markings of 3051254-S ("Carol") SN 8183 of the 3rd Battalion, 33rd Armored Regiment, 3rd Armored Division ("Spearhead"), based in Normandy, France in November of 1944 (without a Collen Hedgerow Cutter). All tanks from the 33rd Armored Regiment have the number C-xx and a nickname starting with the letter "C."

²²⁶⁷ This M7B1 was converted back from an M7B2 and comes from an unknown fire range in Germany. Formerly at the Normandy Tank Museum, Catz, France.

²²⁶⁸ Named "Colorado"

²²⁶⁹ Built in February or April 1944 at Nibelungenwerke at St. Valentin in Lower Austria. Like many preserved PzKpfw IV tanks in museums, it served with the Syrian Army in the 1950s, having come from Czechoslovakia (after 1945, the Czechoslovak army operated them under the designation T-40/75). The Israelis captured it in 1967 during the Six-Day War and used it for training purposes before being exhibited in the Israeli Armor Museum at Latrun in 1994. In 2003, it was obtained from Israel by the Military Vehicle Technology Foundation (the Littlefield Collection) in Arlington, Texas, and in 2014 it was auctioned off and acquired by Paul Allen for the Flying Heritage & Combat Armor Museum (FHCAM) on Paine Field In Everett, Washington. It is not functional as of yet, but I understand it is to undergo restoration at some point (Randy Malmstrom on facebook).

²²⁷⁰ Built in 1942 by Borgward. Vehicle was part of the Littlefield Collection, and was sold in 2014 to the museum.

²²⁷¹ T-34-85 KMDB (Kharkov Morozov Machine Building Design Bureau) medium tank. From what I have determined, this particular tank was built after World War II at the J.V. Stalin Factory in Martin (Slovakia). It was restored to its present status first by a Czech crew combining the chassis from one and the engine and running gear from a Czech VT-35 armored recovery tank, and then in the U.S. It is painted as a vehicle which would have fought in Belarus in January 1945. The markings on the turret: the diamond denotes a Soviet tank with the brigade number inside and the text refers to the commander (General Bagramjana), Randy Malmstrom on facebook

²⁴⁶⁶ Former Utah Military and Armament Museum, 1232 West Hwy (West Utah Ave) 112, Tooele, UT

²⁴⁶⁷ This tank is part of few Stuarts that were received by Australia as refugee cargo, originally intended for the Netherlands East Indies. When NEI fell, the ships were diverted to Australia. It then served during the battle for Buna. The hull of this vehicle was recovered and restored from a wreck by Ron Fry. After purchase John Belfield continued the restoration and fitted the correct turret which he had found buried under ground in a school car park

²⁴⁶⁸ This vehicle was part of the Budge Collection in the UK, and then of Jacques Littlefield's Collection in California. Former Israeli vehicle. Converted from a Ford M4A3. This tank has got the automatic tow hook modification in 1945. It is probably SN 11727, built as a Ford M4A3(75) and later converted to M32B3, and then M32A1B3

²⁴⁷⁶ This tank was built from the lower hull remains of WD Number T-23861 (Baldwin Number 358), an M3 Grant built in April, 1942. The differential housing comes from Baldwin Number 290, the upper hull comes from another Grant and the turret is a reproduction built by Ron Fry. The vehicle was restored by Ron Fry

²⁴⁷⁷ Built on the lower chassis of an M3A5 built by Baldwin Locomotive Works. This M4A3 reproduction is one of the Grant based Sherman tanks constructed for the Movie industry. Three of these machines were used in the making of 'The Pacific' series. One of these three was the same one built for the movie 'The Great Raid' (Which did not end up appearing in the final cut anyway!)

²⁴⁸³ Formerly at Armed Forces Military Museum, Largo, FL

²⁴⁸⁴ Former TACOM test mule. She found her way into the Littlefield MVTF collection, at that time she had a "broken" gun tube. Sold before the auction, the new owners added an M1 cupola on her and installed a 90-mm gun. The cupola is not correct for that tank and is also missing the bullet splash shield they used on the first generation turrets. What is unique about her is she has turret casting #1 from the Continental Foundries Wheeling WV plant.

²⁴⁸⁵ Painted RN 3069947; "The Sorcerer". The M4A1 was built by Pressed Steel Car in September or October, 1943. It has form fitting appliqué plates welded on the hull sides, which is a late feature on PSC small hatch M4A1s. Former Utah Military and Armament Museum, 1232 West Hwy (West Utah Ave) 112, Tooele, UT

²⁴⁸⁶ Former John Belfield, this is a replica built for the TV series The Pacific. Has SN 1318

²⁴⁸⁷ Named GIDEON. This is one of 525 M4A3(76) VVSS manufactured by Fisher, it was remanufactured to HVSS in the 1950s. We only know 4 surviving M4A3(76) manufactured by Fisher. Formerly owned by Fred Krager

²⁴⁸⁸ This Jumbo is actually a composite of two seriously shot up hulls. The primary is SN 50570 / RN 3083167, built in July, 1944
